In presenting you with this our second edition of the Port Huron Directory, we would say that we have left no means untried to make it complete and accurate as a book of reference and not of history. In the compilation of its contents, the information has been gathered from business and domestic sources, which has been carefully arranged and herewith presented under appropriate headings.

Most persons in glancing over the pages of a city directory have but a faint idea of the great amount of labor that is necessary to make the work even fairly accurate; the difficulty is especially marked in this locality, where the population is made up of so many different nationalities, and where one can hear a different language spoken at every turn. Years of experience as directory publishers have familiarized the writers with the peculiarities to be expected. A few of the difficulties that militate against an absolute accurate canvass are as follows: Erratic spelling of names where the person approached is possessed of a desire to anglicize, and only partially succeeds; with people phonetically inclined, but whose ears "are not built that way," and with those who "shed" their names every time they move to avoid paying rent. These are but a few of the difficulties, yet they are largely overcome by our continued mingling with such people for years. Hence the directory may be expected to be as accurate as is possible to produce, although we do not vouch for the reliability of the material information given, the work is presented without apologies to a generous public, as the result of a careful and laborious effort, at the price named on the title page.

The population of the city you can make up to suit yourself. Take the number of pages in the directory running from A to Z, multiplying this by the number of names on a page and this number by 2 2-5 and you have the population.

In looking for a name in this directory, give it a fair trial before condemning it; be sure you know how to spell the name. If you do not find it as you think it is spelled try another spelling. Take such a name as a Cramer for example. It may be spelled Cramer or Kramer, either of which may be correct. The same with Mayer, Meyer, Meier, Myer, etc., the second letter of which gives them a different location.

PLATE GLASS, ACCIDENT AND FIRE INSURANCE
WRIGHT, HOYT & CO.
201 HURON AVENUE.

Port Huron occupies a commanding strategic position as regards rail and water transportation. It is upon a bee line between —both by rail and water—the great agricultural producing regions of the middle west and east.

Port Huron has four railoads which traverse the country in all directions; also the best of shipping facilities. With several large factories situated here, and the enterprise already manifested by the leading citizens, it takes no prophet to foretell how great Port Huron will become in the near future. The geographical location, natural resources, the unlimited space required for a large city, beauty of location, and all the requisites for becoming a great metropolis are here. The prospects for the future of the city were never brighter than at present. It has reached and passed the time when there was any question as to its prosperity and growth. The question now is "How fast shall the city grow?" and that must be answered by the business men and capitalists, who have it in their power to enlarge and expand business and manufacturing interests and thus attract in and add to the population. Nature has done all she can, man must do the rest. The nucleus is already formed; let nothing be left undone to promote its growth. Always speak well of your city, be proud of it, extend the hand of friendship to the new comer, lend encouragements to all worthy enterprises, is what makes the best of cities.

DEMAREST & LAIRD, DRUGGISTS.

The drug trade is well represented in Port Huron, and the stock carried by the different concerns is complete in every detail. Prominent among the list of druggists stands the firm of Demarest & Laird, enjoying the highest confidence of its citizens. They carry a complete line of drugs, chemicals, stationery, cigars, tobacco, toilet soaps and toilet articles, perfumes, powders, wines and liquors of the very best quality, and a general line of goods usually found in a first-class drug house. We cheerfully recommend this house to the public, feeling confident to say that those who give to it patronage are but little likely to transfer their trade elsewhere, as their prices compare favorably with any in the city and no fresher or better stock can be found in the country. Special attention is given to the compounding of physicians' prescriptions and to those desiring good goods and accurate work we can confidently recommend the above firm to their service.
